our code a Character.

6. Realign. As you read this Word keep realigning your life with this Life. One girl did not come back for more instruction in Scripture and when asked why the reply was: "I haven't learned yet to practice fully what I've been taught." She felt she had to keep practice abreast of teaching. Quite right. The Negro preacher prayed:
"Prop us up, Lord, on our leaning side." Realign your life every day with the Word.

7. Receive. If you find something that gets hold of you in the Word, pass it on to somebody that very day. The repetition will help the retention, and it will help to lighten the path of the other.

Thou Eternal Word, may my words be but echoes of Thee. For my words are dead unless there is a soul in them, and Thou art the Soul. Help me to be reborn in Thy Mind, fired by Thy passion, and decisive with Thy purposes.
Help me to be alive, alingle with Thee. Amen.

Lt. (jg) Madge Atkins of 2943 Park avenue, Richmond, Va., and
Lt. (jg) Eileen Farrell of 121 West Newton street, Boston, said, "It was hard work and long hours but we didn't mind a bit. We are here to help take care of the injured."

The most perilous part of the job, said Captain Perdue, was the task of steering the ship along the narrow winding channel without running aground.

"We couldn't use the main channel because it was heavily mined.
The channel we used was only 26 feet deep in places at high tide. The Repose draws 25 feet 6 inches. At times our fathometer reading was about the same as the draw. We didn't have much water under our keel."

As far as he knew his ship was the largest ever to get through the channel.

Captain Perdue said a helicopter hovered just above the water in front of the ship looking for mines and helping guide it.

Capt. F. B. Coyle of 6517 Westmoreland avenue, Takoma Park, Md., senior medical officer aboard, said that at the height of the Chinnampo operation more than 1,300 persons were aboard the hospital ship.

"It was one big problem to feed that many people. But we did. The galley worked 24 hours a day to help maintain our high standards of cleanliness."

Captain Perdue said "we can do most anything aboard this ship that any modern big city hospital can do."

The patients agree. Pvt. Benjamin
L. Jordan of 1117 12th street, Wichita, Kas., commented:

"They've really been good to me.
And brother they can keep me right here."

Jordan, wounded in his left leg and right arm in the fighting around Pyongyang, has been recommended for a Silver Star.

"Helped save a captain," he said modestly.

France has opposed full German

Florence Negroes Set Emancipation Parade, Program For Monday

There will be a big emancipation parade and celebration in Florence Monday, by an organized by the Tri-Cities Interdenominational Ministers Alliance. All Negro citizens of the three towns and vicinity are urged to attend and take part.

Parade participants will be ministers of the Alliance, followed by other ministers, choirs, lodges, various groups of the local churches, professional and business men and women and school children. Those who have them should wear uniforms and as many as possible should ride in decorated cars with the name of the group on cards on the sides of each car.

The three Negro bands of the Tri-Cities—Burrell of Florence, Sterling of Sheffield, and Trojan of Tuscumbia—will provide the music.

The bands and all others taking part will assemble at Burrell High school at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The parade will form and proceed down College street to Court street, up Court to Tuscaloosa street, out Tuscaloosa to Seminary street, and down Seminary to Slater Elementary school.

The general program will begin at 4 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Nolan of Birmingham will be the guest speaker.

Nineteen Beauties From Cottonbelt States Will Vie

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Nineteen beauties from nine Cottonbelt States put their best foot forward today as judging started in the 13th annual "Maid of Cotton" contest.

The winner to be announced late tomorrow will be King Cotton's official goodwill and fashion ambassador — a six-month tour of 30 U. S. cities, England, France and South and Central America.

All entries were dressed to the teeth as the day's early interviews opened, and armed with pertinent information on cotton—a subject new to the part of the quiz.

It was all very subdued. No bathing suit parades. Not even pedal pushers. And the show tonight where the decision will be announced is an "invitation only" affair.

The maid is picked for her flair for wearing clothes, poise, personality and family background. It helps if she knows a lot about cotton and the cotton industry.

The winner will leave for New York City a few days after the contest to assemble a wardrobe of the latest styles, with every shade of cotton. She starts her tour in February.

The winner will be one of these:

Alabama—Ann Brooking, Adams, Tuscaloosa.

Arkansas—Martha Brooks, Springdale.

California — Eleanor Chalmers, San Luis Obispo.

Louisiana—Catherine Anne Settles, Shreveport.

Mississippi—Elizabeth Anderson Sumner, Beverly Guyton, Blue Mountain, and Lannese Thompson, Arcola.

North Carolina—Martha Virginia Schenck, Greensboro; Annette McCarter, Gastonia.

South Carolina — Jean Nead, Greenville.

Tennessee—Jean Arnold, Memphis; Ruth Garrett and Sara Gentry, Knoxville, Imogene Morgan, Dickson; and Jo Ann Williams, Lucy.

Texas—Angie and Ellece Branch, Houston; Ruth Brunson, Claude; Jeannine Holland, Houston.

IKE'S MAN FRIDAY—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, newly-appointed supreme commander of Allied European forces, said he will appoint Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, above, as his chief of staff. Now Army deputy chief of staff for plans and operations, Gruenther was deputy chief of staff with the Third Army when it was headed by Eisenhower early in World War II.

Police Dragging River In Hunt For Stone Of Scone

LONDON, (AP)—Royal police 40 miles from London said today they believed the legendary Stone of Scone stolen from Westminster Abbey had been unceremoniously dumped into the Thames Tuesday by crews of freight.

A spokesman at Essex Police Headquarters in Chelmsford reported a "Thames waterman was seen dumping a heavy bundle into the river from a small boat."

Foot patrolmen and radio cars quickly covered the area of the river bank, while other police looked for the battered block of yellow sandstone, frozen in tought and weighing in small boats along the stream.

They found no trace of the relic on which British kings have sat for coronations since Edward I brought the slab from Scotland in 1296.

This ancient coronation stone still took pot in the breasts of fiery Scottish Nationalists who think the Stone should be restored to Scotland.

Extremists among their number are generally suspected with carting off the Stone during the early hours Christmas morning from the coronation chair in the depths of the hallowed Abbey.

Civilians Flying In Oak Ridge Area Under Restrictions

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Civilians flying in portions of a six-state area around Oak Ridge, Tenn., henceforth must file flight plans with the Civil Aeronautics Administration when they begin their flights, the CAA said here today.

Previously the filing of flight plans had been voluntary; now it is mandatory.

The six-state area designated as the Knoxville zone, includes Western North Carolina, Northwestern South Carolina, Northeast Georgia, Tennessee East of Nashville, Southern Kentucky and extreme Southwest Virginia.

The Knoxville zone is one of several which have been set up as Air Defense Identification Zones (ADIZ).

Private aircraft not equipped with radio may fly in some of the restricted zones without filing flight plans, provided they maintain an altitude of less than 4,000 feet all times. Flight plans for all types of aircraft, and at all altitudes are mandatory in the Atlantic and Pacific coastal zones and the Canada-U. S. air defense zone, the CAA said.

The new regulations, the CAA said, are effective upon publication in The Federal Register, and carry out provisions of an executive order signed Dec. 20 by President Truman.

The CAA said a 15-day grace period will be permitted after publication in the register to permit pilots time to acquaint themselves with the regulations.

Dazed Laborer Probed After Shotgun Rampage

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)— State police questioned a dazed Bloomington, Ind., laborer today about a shotgun rampage in nearby Camby which left his brother and a neighbor dead and his wife wounded.

Detectives quoted the man, 34-year-old Ethridge Grubbs, as saying he had been in a daze since Christmas and remembered nothing of the shooting yesterday. They said he appeared to have been drinking heavily.

His brother, Warnie Grubbs, 32, died as a State trooper reached his home in Camby. A neighbor of Wathie Grubbs, Homer Neal Shaw, 51, was found wounded on a road South west of Camby. Shaw died in a hospital here early today.

Ethridge Grubbs' wife, Helen, 35, suffered a minor wound in the hand.

Third Hormone Discovered To Fight Arthritis

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

CLEVELAND, (AP)—A third potent hormone to fight arthritis and other diseases has been made synthetically.

Called compound F, it comes naturally from the adrenal gland. The discovery of a practical way to make it by chemistry was reported today by Dr. Max Tishler of Merck & Co. to the American Association For The Advancement Of Science.

Tests will start soon to learn if compound F is as good as or better than the other two anti-arthritis hormones, cortisone and ACTH, he said. There is hope it might be better.

In particular, it is hoped it will avoid the ill effects that may result from big or long-continued doses of cortisone or ACTH.

Both Cortisone and ACTH bring amazing relief from the pains and swelling of rheumatoid arthritis, but the relief usually lasts only as long as the hormone is taken. They knock out the fever and may prevent heart damage in rheymatic fever, have temporarily shrunk or halted some forms of cancer, and shown surprising results in burns and other diseases.

Compound F showed comparable effects in one case of arthritis and one case of Leukemia, or cancer of the blood.

Bobby Soxers Greet Comedian Red Skelton

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived at Union Station yesterday he found a shouting, placard-carrying group of bobby soxers.

The Supreme Commander of the Atlantic Pact Nations' European Army, his wife and their party were they weren't looking for him. Screaming "we want Red," they were on hand to greet comedian Red Skelton, who arrived on the same train.

'Turn Of Half Century' Rabbi's Sermon Topic

"The Turn of the Half Century" will be the theme of Rabbi Charles Mantinband's sermon at Sabbath services Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Temple B'Nai Israel in Sheffield. Just returned from a trip to Boston, New York and Washington, the rabbi will discuss the mood of these metropolitan centers and offer some counsel in these critical hours.

Memorial services will be held for the late David Milton Markowitz, who was killed in an automobile accident earlier this week. Markowitz, a member of the local congregation, was a student at the University of Alabama. Students home on vacation are invited to attend the service.
