

Folsom Instructs New ABC Board

Montgomery. — Newly appointed members of the State ABC Board Tuesday denied any disagreement between Gov. James E. Folsom and their predecessors over the banning of "juke boxes" in liquor establishments.

"We are informed by the governor and those concerned that there has never been any disagreement between the governor and the men we succeeded concerning juke boxes," the board members said in a statement.

Individually the new board members declined to make their stand known on the proposed return of juke boxes or coin-operated music machines to Alabama establishments where alcoholic drinks are sold.

A press release from the ABC Board disclosed that they had been posted by the governor as to their duties. The statement said:

"We have had our first meeting with the governor as the new members of the ABC Board for the coming year. Here are our instructions from him:

"You have the same instructions as all my appointees. Your job is to operate the ABC system for the welfare of Alabama's 3,000,000 people, and to do it with complete honesty. You owe no obligation whatever to any man except to me as the elected representative of the people."

"We met with the members of the board which served for the first year and have received help from them in going over all pending matters. Mr. Faulk was contacted at his home in Samson.

"We have confidence in the present staff of the ABC system, and have

MORE TREES FOR ALABAMA DEMONSTRATION PLANNED

Plans for a series of practical forest demonstrations in this county are being made by More Trees for Alabama, according to Judge John B. Sockwell, county chairman for the project, who declared that these outdoor schools in woods management are expected to start in the near future.

Foresters from the Tennessee Valley Authority will cooperate with local committees in arranging these demonstrations, it is stated.

"Farmers and other woods owners, who have received the booklet, 'Cash Crops from Alabama Woodlands' are urged to fill out the postcard in the book and mail it without delay," Chairman Sockwell declared. "We hope to have these demonstrations as near as possible to the homes of those interested in better woods management, and the sooner these request cards are mailed, the sooner plans for the demonstrations can be completed."

Additional free copies of the booklet are still available, and may be obtained on request from the county agent, forest ranger, or from More Trees for Alabama, 5 North Bainbridge Street, Montgomery.

asked them to continue. Mr. McRicht has continued to remain as administrator and Mr. McRee as assistant administrator.

As quickly as possible will announce when meetings will be held in the meantime those who have business with the board are asked to wait until such meeting schedules are announced."

The release was signed by Chairman Gregory.

NOT JUDICIALLY HONEST

Senator Eastland of Mississippi has gone on record as declaring that he believes a majority of the present United States Supreme Court "is not judicially honest."

"I don't have any confidence in the Supreme Court, and I don't think the Bar of this country has," Senator Eastland added.

He made this comment during a Senate Judiciary committee hearing on the constitutionality of Federal anti-lynching legislation. Senator Eastland contended there is no need for such legislation, saying:

"I think time has cured it, we don't have many lynchings now."

Citing recent decisions of the Supreme Court, Eastland said that if the tribunal were to "sustain the constitutionality (of an anti-lynching law), that doesn't mean it is constitutional." He added:

"Frankly, I think that all these cases must be based upon the assumption that a majority of our court as now constituted is not judicially honest." In this connection Senator Eastland is joined by large numbers of laymen as well as members of the Bar. As far as we are able to ascertain, the average thinking citizen has little confidence in the Supreme Court, and many lawyers none at all.

This situation is not surprising, as confidence in and respect for the Supreme Court was largely nullified when Hugo Black was given a seat on the tribunal as a political pay-off despite a record which included membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

At that time, the Times-Journal asserted that the nation would pay an exorbitant price for this appointment in loss of public confidence in the court and that Justice Black's triumph would ultimately turn to "ashes in his mouth."

Now the fulfillment of these predictions rush upon us, for to many observers opinions of the Supreme Court do not represent interpretations of the Constitution as much as they do political opinions of the individuals involved.—Selma Times-Journal.

The practice of governors appointing members of the legislature to political jobs is bad. Usually, these appointments are made in payment for some service rendered to the governor by the legislator, and then the people suffer. A legislator named to a sinecure cannot serve two masters. Whenever a legislator accepts these favors he should resign from the legislature.

PUT SOUTH ABOVE ANY POLITICAL PARTY

Montgomery—Alabama Democrats were on record this week with a warning to national leaders that adoption of an anti-segregation policy in the 1948 platform might force the South to decide between party loyalty and Southern tradition.

A resolution passed without a dissenting vote at a meeting Tuesday of the state's Democratic Executive Committee declared firmly, "There are limits to what can be endured" on convention delegates, whoever they might be, were urged to "resist with all their ability and power" any attempt to write into the platform proposals which would "directly or indirectly abolish the South's racial barriers."

Committee members fixed March 1 as the qualifying deadline for the May 4 primary in which 26 delegates will be elected to the Democratic National Convention, state and county officers.

The resolution said further: "Such action by the national leadership of the Democratic Party could force every Southerner into the undesired position of determining which is the greater loyalty, that to the South or that to the party."

Mrs. Lennard Thomas, of Montgomery, national committee woman, said:

"The Southern states should band together and tell our national leaders to get them the Solid South in the past but we are not going to do it in the future."

Referring to the recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling that negroes in Oklahoma are entitled to educational facilities equal to those given the white race, Mrs. Thomas declared, "We are going to keep segregation in the South regardless of any decision handed down by our wonderful justices on the Supreme Court."

THIS WEEK WE SALUTE

Alabama Kiwanis on their interest in farmers and their agricultural work for 1948.

Each Kiwanis Club in Alabama features agriculture in one way or another, although most Kiwanians are businessmen and professional men. They are especially interested in soil improvement, livestock and work with young people in their 4-H and FFA clubs.

Another part of Kiwanis rural work is to make farm people feel at home when in the cities and towns where these clubs are located. They call this goodwill work.

The motto of Kiwanis is "We Build." They build businesses, build farms, build goodwill, build people. A Kiwanis club is a big asset to any town or city.—Alabama Farmers State.

3 Unions Block Labor Peace—Refuse Wage Boost Already Accepted by 19 Other Railroad Unions!

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Switchmen's Union of North America, representing 125,000 railroad employes, have refused to accept the offer of the Railroads of a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour.

This is the same increase awarded 1,000,000 non-operating employes by an arbitration board in September, 1947.

This is the same increase accepted by 175,000 conductors, trainmen and switchmen by agreement on November 14, 1947.

Agreements have been made with 1,175,000 employes, represented by nineteen unions. But these three unions, representing only 125,000 men, are trying to get more. They are demanding also many new working rules not embraced in the settlement with the conductors and trainmen.

Strike Threat

The leaders of these three unions agreed a strike ballot while negotiations were still in progress. This is not a secret vote but is taken by union leaders and votes are signed by the employes in the presence of union representatives.

When direct negotiations failed, the leaders of these three unions refused to join the railroads in asking the National Mediation Board to attempt to settle the dispute, but the Board took jurisdiction at the request of the carriers and has been earnestly attempting since November 24, 1947, to bring about a settlement. The Board on January 15, 1948, announced its inability to reach a mediation settlement. The leaders of the unions rejected the request of the Mediation Board to arbitrate. The railroads accepted.

What Now? The unions having refused to arbitrate, the Railway Labor Act provides for the appointment of a fact-finding board by the President.

The railroads feel it is due shippers, passengers, employes, stockholders, and the general public to know that throughout these negotiations and in mediation, they have not only exerted every effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement, but they have also met every requirement of the Railway Labor Act respecting the negotiation, mediation, and arbitration of labor disputes.

It seems unthinkable that these three unions, representing less than 10 per cent of railroad employes, and those among the highest paid, can successfully maintain the threat of a paralyzing strike against the interest of the entire country—and against 90 per cent of their fellow employes.

The threat of a strike cannot justify granting more favorable conditions to 125,000 employes than have already been put in effect for 1,175,000, nor will it alter the opposition of the railroads to unwarranted wage increases or to changes in working rules which are not justified.

A glance at the box shows what employes represented by the Engineers and Firemen make. They are among the highest paid in the ranks of labor in the United States, if not the highest.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (pre-war) and 1947. Also shown is what 1947 earnings would have been if the 15 1/2 cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders had been in effect throughout the entire year 1947.	1939 Average Annual Salary	1947 Average Annual Salary	1947 Average Annual Salary (Increase of 15 1/2 Cents Per Hour)
