Sheriff Challenges KKK Leader Prove Charges Of Graft

CONWAY, S. C. (AP)—An angry sheriff has challenged a Ku Klux Klan leader to prove his charges that law officers had taken "enormous sums" from businessmen.

Thomas Hamilton, Grand Dragon of the Carolinas Klan, made the accusation Saturday night before 5,000 people at an orderly KKK rally near here.

Sheriff C. F. Sasser of Horry county protested: "It's absolutely not true. If Hamilton has any such information, let him bring it before the grand jury and they will prosecute."

Dressed in a green robe that caught reflections from a 20-foot cross burning nearby, Hamilton thundered:

"The lid is going to fly off before long and a lot of things will be revealed to the taxpayers of Horry county. I have affidavits from people who paid enormous sums of money to stay in business." He said the payments were to law enforcement officers but he named no names.

The rally attracted an audience of about 5,000 including women and children and about 200 white-robed Klansmen. The crowd applauded when Hamilton shouted:

"Any U. S. flag that flies over a Horry county schoolhouse or any courts that has got a Klan organization is coming down." The U. S. banner will never take the place of the American flag," he said.

Night riders have been accused of terrorism in the Horry county logging area within recent months. Robert Hemingway, one of three men who escaped through the window of Conway on the night of a primary election shot up a Negro night club at Myrtle Beach and had whipped a white farmer near Conway.

In the demonstration at the night club Aug. 26, James Daniel Johnson, a Conway policeman, was shot dead by a man wearing a KKK robe over his police uniform.

GALLANT GENDARME—The long arm of the law—Police Lt. John Marler, in this case—reaches out to accuse Mrs. Lester F. Cook of courtesy while driving through Atlanta, Ga. Police there are presenting posies to motorists in recognition of polite, careful driving. Mrs. Cook stopped to let a pedestrian pass, then made a turn after giving the correct (yes, correct) signal.

Legion Vets Open Pocketbooks To Aid West Coast Marines

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—American Legion veterans today opened their pocketbooks to raise a fund that will defend a group of Marines home from California on their last furloughs before going overseas.

The Marines are Birmingham residents who were called into active service recently. They have completed training and soon will be ordered to Korea or Japan.

Some of the Marines with families to support in Birmingham didn't have the money for the long trip from the West Coast to this Deep South city. Their plight touched the heart of Staff Sgt. Paul H. Smith. He wrote a friend back home telling him about it.

"It would mean so much to these boys and their families that no matter what the outcome of the present conflict abroad they would always be thankful for the chance to come home," he said in his letter.

The American Legion was informed. Birmingham posts promised to sponsor at least eight of the Marines. Legion officials quickly kicked in $120 of their own money to get a drive started.

"I know what it's like to want to come home and not have the money," one veteran said as he gave $10.

Warren's Daughter Will Lick Polio, Reported

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren and his family were overjoyed today at the news his youngest daughter, Nina "Honey Bear," 17, will recover from polio and will walk again.

Dr. Dennis R. Harris said tests showed her legs are no longer paralyzed, but are very weak.

Dr. Harris said Nina would not be crippled. She may be forced to use a brace for as long as a year and a half.

The examination showed that muscles in Nina's hips and legs, paralyzed in the week-old attack, had resumed functioning.
