

Harold E. Stassen, a 1948 candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, proposed that the war in Korea cease fire at 11:59 p.m. (EST) and the U. N. Security Council should be asked to order the cessation of hostilities.

Stassen said if the Chinese refuse to accept the cease fire, the U. N. forces should withdraw from Korea, attack China and blockade her by sea.

The Tokyo news conference emphasized that he spoke only for himself.

MacArthur's spokesman said the Chinese were calling up additional troops to bolster the Korean campaign.

Elements of the First Field Army from some Northwestern China have been sent to Korea, the spokesman said.

The Chinese Fourth Field Army under command of Gen. Lan Piao, the Manchurian hammer, comprises the main body of his Korean divisions. Along with the First Field Army, units of the Third Field Army round out the mighty Red Force.

out war for which the West is ill-prepared and for which our European Allies have little or no stomach. . . . The Attlee government takes the reasonable position that since the war in Korea is being fought in the name of the United Nations, the United States should be using atomic weapons should be used by U. N. members involved in the fighting. . . . The United States insists upon making unilateral military decisions, it will not have the right to make demands upon fellow U. N. members.

The New York Journal-American has a column in which it has been attacking a recent report that the Communists in Tuscumbia are coming here to intervene in behalf of the Manchurian hammer which is attacking us without excuse and is pressing the attack with brutal determination. . . . The American people may be pardoned if they wonder whose side the British are on in this war.

since TVA is an agency of the federal government negotiations must be conducted within the limits of the TVA Act and other federal laws applicable to TVA.

"It is gratifying," Mr. Grant said, "that the relations between TVA and the labor organizations have been so mutually confidential and cooperative in terms of mutual confidence and acceptance. . . . responsibility that they can be reflected in signed articles of agreement. . . . The TVA program is an efficiency by virtue of the active participation of the employees in finding ways of doing the job quickly and economically as well as in working out problems of salaries, hours and working conditions."

A statement commenting on the TVA program was made by A. B. Carson, president, Council of Office, Technical, and Service Employees (representing the four AFL unions), William R. New, president TVA Engineers Association, M. H. H. Manly, president TVA Association of Professional Chemists and Chemical Engineers.

The signing of the agreement is a well-deserved recognition of the efforts of TVA employees to cooperate with TVA management in carrying out the purposes of the TVA Act in the most effective manner. . . . These labor contracts are an important milestone in collective bargaining within an agency of the Federal Government. . . . They are the first always been willing to sit around the table and negotiate conditions which will benefit both sides and this document is symbolic of those years of amicable collective bargaining."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) called for its outright rejection by the Senate. He termed the proposal "no more than an intent to qualify" the action taken by Congress earlier this year to return control to State and local authorities.

Taft said that so long as the Administration does not exercise price controls, there is no sound basis for keeping controls on rent.

Senate and House bills differ only in length of the extension period. The House bill extends controls 90 days to March 31, the Senate 60 days. Controls are slated to expire Dec. 31 except in localities which have taken affirmative action to retain them until June 30. Neither extension would affect the June 30 date.

Congress voted $1,300,000,000 for the fiscal year 1951 and followed it with a $1,250,000,000 second year fund. After the North Korean invasion, Mr. Truman asked for an emergency $4,000,000,000.

It will be six months or more before the budget is ready for Congress. It is calculated that there will be no European war measure.

the nation's press.

The New York Times — It would be a day's work to stand by its clear commitment on this issue, fail to identify and denounce the clear fact of Chinese Communist aggression, and effect any settlement which would reward that aggression. Fortunately, there is no reason to believe that the Times will do this.

The Los Angeles Times — We can't abandon Asia. If we are driven from Korea we must return in another quarter. If we can't hold in Asia, the chances are slim that we shall be able to fend off Communism anywhere.

The New York Herald Tribune — If China's course is conditioned, then the most outright examples of aggression in modern history can claim a cover of innocence and immunity. For the U. N. to be silent on the question of China's aggression would in fact be nothing less than to condone it and to thence the most and worst of reason to lose faith.

The Philadelphia Inquirer — No assessment. No surrender. Fall back if we must, evacuate the Korean battlefields to keep our remaining troops out of the Chinese hands, but let it be another Dunkirk, not another Munich. . . . If we quit Korea, let us leave with honor — on the day we can return.

control extension so long as Mr. Truman finds no justification for such on other things.

While their stand delayed the bill's progress, it didn't kill it.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) planned to recall the rules committee to reconsider its vote to postpone action. He also wanted to bring pressure to clear the bill, which Mr. Truman asked Congress to pass this week.

While the House was thus temporarily stalled, the Senate went into another day of debate on a similar bill extending the rent law for six years. It has agreed to vote tomorrow.

Long-Winded Telephone Conversation Costly

BLUFFIELD, W. Va. (P)—Some long-winded telephone conversationalists would get off the party line so that Mrs. G. C. Madox could fire a shot into a fire in her home, she said today.

As a result, her farm house was destroyed when one of her furniture was saved.

Mrs. Madox is on an eight-party telephone line. When the fire started in the fire of her home yesterday, she lost some time before she tried to get on the phone to call the fire fighters.

Some neighbors were using it and she couldn't get off. She had to leave the telephone to put more water on the fire.

Then she pleaded with the telephone talkers again. But they were busy.

Between trying to get a clear line and throwing water on the fire, it took her 30 minutes before Mrs. Madox was able to get a call through to the Bluefield Fire Department.

One of the items the fire fighters managed to save, incidentally, was the telephone.

Foster Mother Seeks Return Of Child, 4

MONTGOMERY. (P)—The State Supreme Court received a petition Monday asking the return of a four-year-old foster mother to her foster mother.

Mrs. J. H. Sessions of Bessemer, Ala., is seeking a court order to allow her to take her 4-year-old son, Mrs. W. A. Edwards, whose illegals is an "unfit person" to rear the little girl.

Clinging a previous lawsuit over the child's custody, the Supreme Court ordered Mrs. Sessions to return the child to Mrs. Edwards two days ago.

Victor's father, Leamon Edwards, was charged last year with selling the lot to the children's sessions for $500 for adoption. Sessions, later killed in a traffic accident, admitted the sale.

However, both men denied the matter was for sale of the child.

Both the Edwards and Mrs. Sessions say they are planning Christmas for the child.

signed by the State Policy Employees Panel, which is composed of the TVA Engineers Association, TVA Association of Professional Chemists and Chemical Engineers, Public Safety Service Employees Union, the Workers' Educational Union, Office Employees International Union, and Building Service Employees International Union. The last four unions are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The present agreement is the outgrowth of years of cooperative relationships between TVA employees and management. The first "Employee Relations Agreement" was issued by the TVA Board of Directors in 1933 after consultation with employee groups. Since then many policies affecting employees have been negotiated with employee organizations.

The agreement signed Tuesday combines in one basic statement the principles established in the original relationship policy or by later negotiation between TVA and these employee unions.
